

Interparfums acquires the property at 10 rue de Solférino in Paris

Interparfums today announces the completion of the acquisition of its future headquarters at 10 rue de Solférino in the 7th arrondissement of Paris from the property developer, Apsys. An office complex combining three buildings connected by two inner courtyards, comprising in large part the French Socialist Party's former headquarters, it will offer total square footage of approximately 40,000 sq. ft. (3,700 sqm).

This new headquarters will make it possible in spring 2022 to house all teams at a single site, contribute to a new more flexible and convivial work organization and provide a showcase of excellence for all the company's partners.

The €125 million purchase price for this building, in line with market values, includes the complete renovation of the site and is financed by a 10-year €120 million bank loan to benefit from current interest rates.

Spearheaded by the architectural firm Jean-Paul Viguier & Associés, this redevelopment project combines state-of-the-art restoration with a high level of comfort and performance in terms of energy, temperature control, acoustics and domotics, reflecting a demanding environmental strategy to obtain a rating of Excellent for BREEAM⁽¹⁾ and HQE⁽²⁾ assessed buildings.

Philippe Benacin and Jean Madar, the co-founders of Interparfums Group commented: "This purchase is an exceptional opportunity. These new headquarters will allow us to pursue our development within an incomparable setting at a prestigious address that perfectly fits our brand portfolio."

Fabrice Bansay, Apsys Group CEO added: "Our vision for the "Dix Solférino" property was to create a showcase for new working practices celebrating collective intelligence, fostering the quality of working life and ensuring a very high level of performance and comfort. I am very happy that Interparfums, a very exceptional French company, has chosen this address as its home."
