Product development policy

« The safety of the products developed and marketed by the Interparfums Group is an absolute priority. In line with its ethical approach to development, the Group has established a set of strict requirements that are applied by all teams involved in the design of its products. In the interest of transparency, I wanted these commitments to be detailed in this document and shared publicly. »

Philippe Benacin,
Chairman-Chief Executive Officer

The Interparfums Group ensures strict compliance with the regulations in force in all countries where its products are manufactured, distributed or marketed, without ever compromising on safety. In accordance with regulatory requirements, internal standards and other recognized benchmarks, the ingredients used in the formulation of its products are carefully selected with a view to environmental responsibility and optimal quality.

This commitment to quality, safety, and consumer health protection is at the heart of the Group's product policy. It is reflected in rigorous monitoring of compliance with applicable standards. With this in mind, the use of certain ingredients in its formulations is excluded, even if trace amounts may be found in the product occasionally and are technically unavoidable, particularly due to the quality of the water, natural raw materials, or manufacturing processes:

- 1,4-Dioxane;
- Acetaldehyde;
- Acetonitrile;
- Acrylamide;
- Benzene;
- BHA (butylated hydroxyanisole);
- Bisphenol A;
- Boric acid;
- Butoxyethanol;
- D4 (Cyclotetrasiloxane);
- Dichloroethane;
- Diethylamine (DEA) and diethylamine (DEA) complexes;
- Formaldehyde;
- Heavy metals (lead, arsenic, mercury, cadmium, antimony, nickel);
- Hexachlorophene;
- Hydroquinone;
- Methanol;
- Methylene chloride;
- PCBs (polychlorinated biphenyls);
- Plastic microbeads (rinse-off products);
- PVC;
- Toluene.

Transparency is fundamental to Interparfums as a guarantee of trust and safety for its consumers. In order to respond clearly and responsibly to public questions and expectations, the Group is committed to sharing detailed information on the ingredients used in its products, as well as those that have never been used or have been removed from its formulas. This policy, which is reviewed and updated annually, is a cornerstone of Interparfums' strategy, alongside its product quality and safety policy.
